IRREVERENCE.

"THERE MAY BE SOME DEMOCRATS PRESENT WHO ARE REPENTANT AND I LIKE TO PREACH TO SINNERS. YOU HAVE HEARD OF THE FELLOW WHO SAID, 'I CAME NOT TO CALL THE RIGHTEOUS, BUT SINNERS, TO REPENTANCE.'—Delano, Grant's Sketch at Raleigh.

IN THIS FAITH, AND WITH THE DISTINCT UNDERSTANDING THAT IF ELECTED, I SHALL BE THE PRESIDENT, NOT OF A PARTY, BUT OF THE WHOLE PEOPLE, I ACCEPT YOUR NOMINATION IN THE CONFIDENT TRUST THAT THE MASSES OF OUR COUNTRYMEN, NORTH AND SOUTH, ARE EAGER TO CLASP HANDS ACROSS THE BLOODY CHASM, WHICH HAS TOO LONG DIVIDED THEM, FORGETTING THAT THEY HAVE BEEN ENEMIES, IN THE JOYFUL CONSCIOUSNESS THAT THEY ARE, AND MUST HENCEFORTH REMAIN, BRETHREN.—HORACE GREELEY.

"We want a President without a party; a government without corruption; a Congress without pride; a judiciary without politics."—B. Gratz Brown.

AN INNOCENT MAN SAVED FROM THE GALLows.

One of the most remarkable criminal trials that has ever taken place in this country, was that of Dr. Schoeppel, recently acquitted of the murder of Miss Steinecke, of Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

Our readers will perhaps remember that some two years ago, Dr. Schoeppel, a young German physician, was tried on the charge of poisoning his affianced bride, an elderly maiden lady of large wealth and extensive family connections. Miss Steinecke, whose death was sudden and mysterious, and who was attended in her last illness by the accused, had become desperately in love with the youthful physician, and the day of their nuptials was near at hand. Her death excited no remark at the time, as no suspicion of foul play was entertained by any member of her family. When her will was presented for probate, however, and it was for the first time ascertained that she had devised her large estate to her lover, a post mortem examination of her body was called for by her relatives; and the celebrated chemist, Dr. Aiken, of Baltimore, was summoned to examine the case, and determine by analysis whether or not Miss Steinecke's death was the result of natural causes, or of poison taken by or administered to her. Dr. Aiken made a thorough, and to his own mind, satisfactory examination. He was positive that Miss Steinecke had been poisoned, and that prussic acid had been administered, and had caused her death. His testimony was uncontradicted. His tests were regarded by the court and jury as sufficient for removing every reasonable doubt of the prisoner's innocence. A verdict of guilty was accordingly rendered after the close of the evidence and argument of counsel. A new trial, if we remember aright, was refused the prisoner by the presiding Judge, and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. There seemed to be no doubt in the public mind of the correctness of the jury's verdict. The case seemed such a plain one that Schoeppel was almost universally regarded as a murderer, and fit only for the gallows.

The Congressional delegation stands as before—unanimously Republican.

From this, it will be seen that while we do not make any gain of Congressmen, we have reduced the popular majority from four to six thousand.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS IN MAINE.

The vote polled in Maine last Monday is about the same as that polled in the Gubernatorial election in 1868. At that time, the Radical majority was over twenty thousand. From the returns received of the recent election it is estimated that the Radicals will not have more than from fourteen to sixteen thousand majority.

THE OCTOBER ELECTION.

Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio vote for State officers in October.

They will virtually decide the Presidential election. If the Liberals and Democrats do not succeed there in October, the probabilities will be decided in favor of President Grant, unless the majorities are so insignificant as to destroy the moral effect of the election.

On the other hand, if our ticket shall prevail in these States in the State election, the political days of General Grant will be forever numbered, and he had might as well commence packing his baggage, preparatory to his departure from the White House on the fourth of next March.

A special from Constantinople states that Mohammed Pasha has been sentenced by the Sultan to banishment, and his estates confiscated, for appropriating public moneys to his own use. The prisoner's counsel, on the other hand, never lost hope. They exhibited great vigilance and zeal in behalf of their client. The Judge below was overruled by the Court of Appeals, and a new trial granted the unfortunate man. On the second trial, Dr. Genth, of Philadelphia, regarded by many physicians as the ablest chemist in the United States, was called in by the defendant, whose testimony daily and directly contradicted Dr. Aiken's theories, and completely overthrew his conclusions. Dr.

Genth positively denied that the tests made by Dr. Aiken gave any evidence of poison having been administered to the deceased, and that even the reagents used by Dr. Aiken would alone have created the poison alleged by him to have been found in the stomach."

Of course this broke down the case of the prosecution. The Solicitor was not able to proceed, and the counsel on both sides submitted the case without argument under the charge of his Honor. The Judge's charge was brief but pointed. He congratulated the jury upon the fact that an innocent man had, under Providence, been saved from an ignominious death! The jury returned a verdict of no guilty in less than fifteen minutes.

The result should have the effect of awakening the public mind to the unreliability of medical tests and the uncertainty of scientific testimony. It is horrible to think of an innocent man being condemned to death either on account of the blunders of professed experts or the contradictory results obtained from scientific experiments.

Dr. Schoeppel is a free man once more. He stands before the world triumphantly vindicated by a jury of his peers; the stain of murder removed from his character; his liberty restored, and his life saved as by a miracle.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

While in attendance on Franklin Superior Court this week, we had the pleasure of participating in a large and very enthusiastic meeting of the friends of Greeley and Brown, held in the Court House at Louisville on Tuesday afternoon.

Henry A. London, Jr., Esq., the Greeley and Brown Elector for this District, spoke by appointment. Hon. John Manning was detained at home by sickness in his family.

Mr. London made a capital speech. His effort was very highly complimented and showed that our banner had been confided to competent and faithful hands. Mr. London has a very fine voice, is thoroughly posted on public affairs, and makes an able, effective and stirring political address. He deals in strong arguments without indulging in abuse or vituperation, and occasionally illustrates his positions by pointed anecdotes. We will not attempt a report of his remarks, as it would do him injustice.

His stirring and eloquent appeals to the young men present to do their duty in the pending canvass were well-timed and excellent, and evidently produced a marked impression.

After Mr. London concluded, in response to the calls of the meeting, the writer and Col. W. F. Green submitted a few remarks. Col. Green's address, though brief, was in excellent taste and was admirably received.

Mr. London very properly refused to divide time with John Williamson, colored, who addressed him a note, asking if a reply would be permitted. Mr. L. stated to the meeting that he had twice written to Mr. Argo, the Grant Elector for the District, inviting him to be present, to discuss the political issues of the day. Mr. Argo having failed to answer either letter, he had announced that himself, Mr. Manning and other friends would address the people at Louisville.

IT is in the doubtful States of Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio where we claim the election, and the Liberal strength chiefly lies in these States and those of the North-West.

SOUTHERN POEMS.

We desire to give what aid we can in perpetuating the sacred memories of the DEAD CONFEDERACY, and for that reason we transfer to our columns such Southern poems relating to the war as we deem worthy of being preserved and treasured for the sake of their own merit, as well as of the cause to which they are dedicated.

The following lines, on the death of our peerless Lee, will be read with admiration and deep interest. They are from the pen of J. Augustine Signago, of Grenada, Mississippi, an Italian by birth, but a Southerner by adoption.

We have seen other beautiful poems written by him, which have been as much admired as the following:

LEE.

The noblest of that God-like band
Of Christian gentlemen
Who dwelt in verdant native land,
Has passed the shadowy gloom;

It is not dead, but gone before,
Our Chevalier Bayard!

His soul to heaven the angels bare
To meet him in his reward.

He fell asleep in happy dreams, a
Virginia's noted son,

Whose bairns are now the hallowed gleams
Of glorious Washington.

And in that light above the storms
Are seen beside him still

His warrior chiefs, the immortal hosts
Of Jackson and of Hill.

His mortal mind may pass to dust,
But mount the temple of the just;

The brightest star of fame;

For since in prayer at Calvary's cross,
Our Lord has given us his soul,

Earth has not felt such grievous loss
As that of Robert Lee!

It was not his Bozzaris' fate,

Who fell in war for Greece,

Our glorious chief, the truly great,

Sleeps in the arms of Peace,

Not far from mouth of coroner's mouth

Was fired above his sod.

A Niole, the weeping South,
Returned him to her God!

THE PROGRESS OF INVESTIGATION.

We are pleased to inform our readers that the State Executive Committee are very diligent in looking up the frauds committed in the late election. They are in correspondence with a large number of reliable and leading citizens in various counties, and the reports of frauds, which have been so generally made, are being closely searched into, and in many instances are being sustained by overwhelming proof.

Instances of frauds, irregularities and gross violations of law are being constantly furnished, and while we do not wish to excite any unreasonable hopes, we can state positively if the counties which have not yet reported will furnish as satisfactory evidences of fraud as those which have. Judge Merrimon will have plain sailing in overcoming Caldwell's reported majority.

The Radical hounds are making the woods ring in their efforts to track Mr. Greeley to a Know-Nothing lodge. It is not use. Horace Greeley has never been where Henry Wilson was.

"There never has been a more promising outlook for any party than that which now exists in Indiana for Greeley and Brown. Hendricks' majority in October will not be less than 15,000." So says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The first fruit of the Louisville failure in New York is the formation of a Greeley club in the Sixth Congressional District, numbering more than 200 names. Before Louisville they were friends of O'Brien, and held back. Now they support Mr. Greeley.

Gen. James D. Morgan, of Illinois, commanded the Second Division, Fourth Corps, and it was considered at the time, saved Sherman's army on an occasion of great emergency, and who was until recently an ardent supporter of Grant, has come out flat footed for Greeley.

The statement of the Radical papers, that Judge Merrimon will not contest the election is not true. All that Judge Merrimon asks is for the Executive Committee to get up sufficient, satisfactory testimony to sustain the charges of fraud. That is all the Democratic press has asked. We do not propose to contest except upon good, substantial grounds. If the evidence is clear, positive and indisputable upon which the Legislature shall base its action, then that body will proceed to do its whole duty in the premises, calmly, faithfully and fearlessly.

WHO IS THE CREDIBLE INFORMANT?—LET US HAVE HIS NAME.

The Carolina Era published a statement a few days ago from the New North State, to the effect that the editor of the latter journal had been credibly informed by a gentleman of respectable, that Judge Merrimon had said in conversation at Old Fort that he would not contest Caldwell's election.

STATE MATTERS.

Our friends throughout the State will place us under obligations if we will furnish us with any items of news that may transpire in their respective sections, as we desire to make this department specially full.

SPRINTURPINE is still advancing in the Wilmington market.

The Fair at Goldsboro, to commence on the 22nd of October, will conclude with a tournament.

The office of the Raleigh News, at Weldon, has been removed into the old Emry House.

The Weldon Mills have been stopped occasionally of late in consequence of the Roanoke river being so low.

The Weldon Fair will conclude with a tournament and ball on the first of November. So says the Raleigh News.

We learn from the Warrenton Gazette that there are 286,043 acres of land in Warren county worth, according to valuation, $1,630,664.

A COLORED girl in Wilmington, aged some 15 years, was struck entirely speechless a few days since. She had not recovered up to last accounts.

A Minnesota sheriff kindly allowed a convict to step outside the penitentiary a moment to kiss his wife, and the family tie proved so strong that he has not yet returned.

The Weldon News says great complaints are made in that section that the cotton is rapidly shedding its leaves and, in many cases, bolls. It is thought the crop will be short in consequence thereof.

We learn from the Danbury Reporter that a few evenings since a respectable sized rattle snake with six rattles and a button was killed at the door of one of the cabins, occupied by ladies, at Piedmont Springs. They didn't sleep there that night.

The name of the member elect of the House of Representatives from Hyde county is Col. William S. Carter, Conservative, a near relative of Col. David M. Carter. The name of the member elect from Beaufort county is Samuel T. Corson, Rep.

A Serious Disaster on James River—Seamer Agnes Blown Up—Several Lives Lost.
The Petersburg (Va.) Progress of yesterday adds the following to the list of steamboat disasters which have recently shocked the country:

On yesterday about 5 p.m., while the steam tug was proceeding down the river with tow, and when near Jordan's Point, her boiler blew up, playing sad havoc with the boat and crew. Capt. Lawrence, her owner and commander, standing on the quarter-deck at the time, was forced into the air some thirty feet or more by the explosion and fell into the stream. He was slightly scratched on the right eye brow and chin, swam a short distance to one of the vessel's in the tow and was thus saved. A brother of the Captain jumped overboard at the time and thereby saved himself.

Among the lost are the following:—Henry Enright, engineer, was killed, and Henry Phillips, Jeff. Braxton and John Tyler, colored firemen, steward and deck hands, drowned. Willis Taylor, one of the boat's crew, was badly wounded in his left leg and rescued. Capt. Jones, of the bark Lucy, with salt from Liverpool, now lying below Harrison's Bar, was likewise killed, being in the bulk of the steamers at the time of the disaster. Capt. Jones came up from City Point on Monday and proceeded to Richmond for the purpose of entering his vessel, and was on his way to the same when this sad fate met him.

The ill-fated steamer had three vessels in tow, one being alongside. This craft was partly blown over by the concussion, and the wife of this vessel's captain experienced a similar fate and fell overboard, but was rescued. One of this vessel's crew received a serious wound in the head, forehead and temples. Willis Taylor and this last individual were cared for by Capt. Lawrence, brought to City Point in a yawl boat, and placed under the medical treatment of Dr. Peter Epps, and their condition was awful to behold. None of the other five bodies have been heard from since.—Truly, "in the midst of life we are in death."

The Agnes, up to within a few weeks was in the employment of Mr. G. H. Ferris, government contractor in the south channel of the Appomattox, has been engaged in the towing business on the James and Appomattox for several years, and was owned by Capt. Charles Nelson, of Richmond, prior to its ownership by Capt. Lawrence.

VALUABLE LAND FOR SALE

IN THE COUNTY OF WARREN.

I offer for sale, five hundred and two (502) acres of land, situated in the vicinity of the village of Shover Creek, adjoining the Sulphur Springs. Tract of Col. J. M. Heck, on both sides of the Turnpike Road, leading from the Sulphur Springs to the village of Town of Roxboro, on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and nine miles from the latter place. This is an overseer's house, three cabins, corn-cob and stone walls, upper and lower rooms, with a large basement, and a well, with about seven acres of rich bottom land. It yields excellent crops of corn, tobacco, wheat, oats, clover, &c. This is one of the best and most desirable in the city—situated on an elevation of some fifty feet above the Capitol; the healthiest and most attractive among growing parts.

The lot contains about three acres including a large garden, with the most abundant fruit grove surrounding the residence to be found in the state; a most beautiful and sloping lawn of ample depth and width, fronting on the Turnpike Road, with a fine view of the city—extending back to the most desirable in the city—situated on an elevation of some fifty feet above the Capitol; the healthiest and most attractive among growing parts.

BISHOP ELLIOTT.

We find in a late exchange the following letter addressed to the seal of the Right Reverend Stephen Elliott, D. D., the crest of which was a bullock and the motto "For Labor—For Sacrifice." No wonder we find in the same issue, "Virginians of the Valley," will have any hesitation in attributing the poem to Dr. Frank O. Ticknor, of Columbus. No other poet in this country has peculiar and unique command of the lyrics movement.

I.

The cream was of the kindest strain
That ever meadow drew
From sunlight and the summer rain,
From starlight and the dew.

That left the world to him
Save Heaven's—the sacrifice tide;

The gentleman he knew,
The gentle and the true,

The kind who smiles like him,
The bullock and no more!

The quaint device of "Sacrifice,"
And "Labor," and "more!"

II.

And matchless sweet golden wheat
That must have moulded him,
A man complete, from head to feet,
God-like, in soul and limb.

That gave his life for Life's blaze,
His smile like him?

Ah, tremulous and dim,
Thro' tears we think of him;

The knight who smiles like him,
The bullock and no more!

The quaint device of "Sacrifice,"
And "Labor," won of yore!

III.

Upon no stately sight
The circling sun hath smiled ;

No oak of loftier height
Dropped shade so sweet and mild,

When love can doubt no light
And the sage, the wild,

The sage, the wild child,

Pearson and Prince have smiled,

Around the bullock and no more—

The quaint device of "Sacrifice,"

His fathers won of yore !

Which he shall wear no more !

For he is dead ! Beneath the tread

Of boulders that the sea to God,

Then went and came no more !

The fragrance of the path he trod

In "Sacrifice," he died,

With the kindest rays,

Of all the kindest days,

Kindle forever more,

Around the Cross he bore,

The quaint device of "Sacrifice,"

That our great Bishop wore !
